EDI 832 Product Catalog Sub-module

A Simple and Effective Method to Assemble and Transmit Product Catalog Information to Partners

The Retail Product Catalog Document (832) is required by some partners to receive and store product-related specifications and prices.

Vantage Point makes it simple by providing a standard file format that can be populated via Microsoft® Excel spreadsheets (a format is provided by Data Masons), or using standard data export tools such as Crystal Reports™ SQL scripts against your accounting and EDI product data. One set of data works for all the company's partners – there is no need to replicate and load the data into different websites or other solutions.

Once the data is assembled and made available to Vantage Point's powerful mapping tool, the Product Catalog map transmits only the products and attributes of interest to each specific partner in their required EDI format.

Simplicity, ease of use and flexibility are the hallmark of this EDI application from Data Masons. These features are coupled with an affordable purchase price, no subscription fees and unlimited translation and transmission at no additional cost.
